Food Security Situation *

- Threats to food security include armed conflict, political instability, population displacement, poverty, banditry and difficult access to food and safe water.
- UNHCR estimates there are approximately 30,000 refugees and 183,000 IDPs in CAR. Since the end of 2009, some 22,500 Congolese refugees arrived in the prefectures of Lobaye (southwest) and Haut-Mbomou (southeast). The refugees were fleeing violence that erupted in the eastern and Equateur regions in the Democratic Republic of Congo and the atrocities of the LRA.
- Security concerns in Birao and Obo in northern CAR are preventing the provision of humanitarian assistance to food insecure populations.
